Eberle.
In addition to the gas bags being rotten and cracked some of the metal structure has corroded to such an extent since the Los Angeles has been in charge of the navy that it will have to be replaced.

Blocked Punt In First Quarter Provides First Opportunity For Scoring

BEAR ALWAYS ON DEFENSIVE

Intercepted Pass For Touchdown And Fumble for Safety Give Nine Points

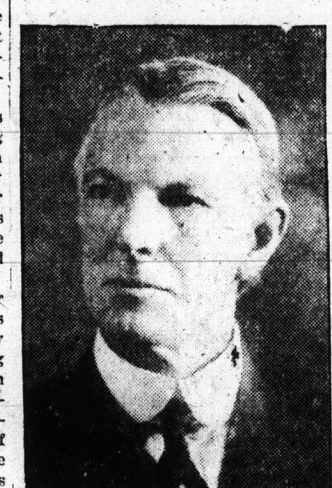

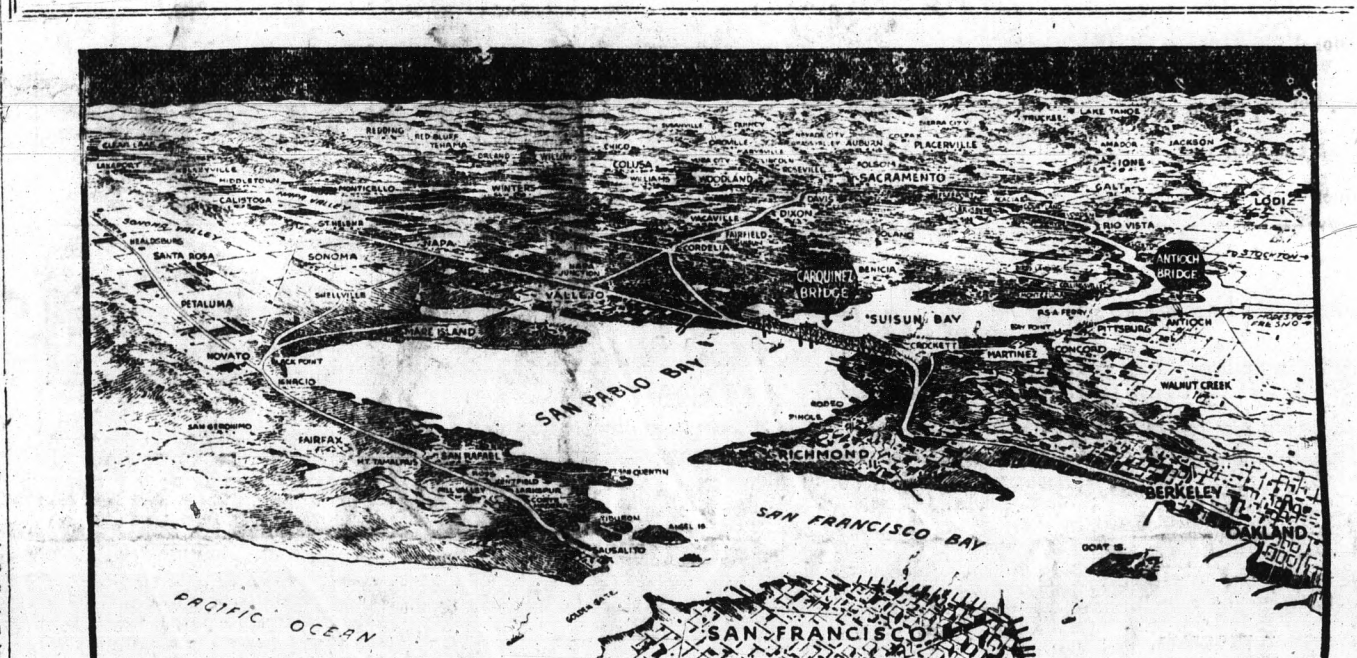

CALIFORNIA MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Oct. 10.—The bitter drags of defeat were tasted by Coach Andrew Smith and his Golden Bears of the University of California yesterday when the powerful Cardinal club warriors of the Olympic club invaded the Bear den and outplayed the Bruins in almost every phase of the game and won 15 to 0.
The vicious offensive of the club team was too much for the Blue and Gold. From the very start the power of the Winged-O was apparent, but it was not until the second quarter that Bailey blocked Jimmy Dixon's punt on the California 5-yard line and fell on the ball for a touchdown.
Despite desperate efforts to even the score in the first half, Andy Smith's eleven took the field in the third period laboring under a handicap of 6 to 0. It was evident at the beginning of the second half that California's offensive was not powerful enough to gain against the stalwart Olympic line.
Step by step the Golden Bear was forced to its own goal line. Finding line plays unsuccessful, the Bruin attempted the passing attack in their own territory. Thereby they erred for when Percy Lacey intercepted Dixon's pass on the five yard line he sauntered across the goal unhindered for the second touchdown.
The extra point was added after the touchdown by Jack Patrick's drop kick. In the last period Andy substituted Charles Willi for Young in the dying effort to give his team a maximum speed for a passing attack. The plan availed naught, however, when Willi fumbled one of Patrick's long punts and Ross Baze recovered the ball back of the Bear's goal line, giving the club team a safety and two points.

Richmond Harbor Has Strategic Location

Because of the strategic geographical position of Richmond Harbor as well as other means of transportation offered organizations interested in shipping are keeping a close watch on the harbor development. The Congressional committee of Rivers and Harbors made a close study of the Richmond waterfront yesterday and were deeply impressed with the improvements already made and others which are contemplated. (Below) Congressman Charles F. Curry who is in a large measure responsible for the visit of the committee here.

Companies Liable
For Poles Placed
Too Near Highway

Power and telephone companies are liable for damages if their poles are placed too close to highways, a Hollister jury decided today, awarding James Snell, Hollister attorney, $35,000 damages against the Coast Counties Gas and Electric company. The case establishes a precedent in determining a new factor in public safety, according to Gus C. Ringole, local attorney, who headed Snell's counsel and made a stirring appeal to the jury.
Snell was crowded off the highway near Hollister August 7, 1923, and while getting out of the hand his machine struck a pole eleven feet off the highway. He suffered fractures of a leg, arm and hip.

DOCTOR ROBBED

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Although badly beaten about the head and face, and threatened with death by two bandits who held up and robbed her uncle, Dr. G. F. Carpenter, 942 Market street, San Francisco, Miss Ethel Brinton, 18, of 7012 Holladay avenue Oakland, yesterday proved herself a heroine when she pursued the men and succeeded in effecting the capture of one of them in a Turk street hotel where he had barricaded himself.
Diamonds valued at $4000, a gold watch and $10 in gold, identified by Dr. Carpenter as his property, was recovered from the man taken into custody, according to the police. The man arrested gave the name of Miles Bennett.

Posing as patients, the bandits, after entering his inner office, drew revolvers and threatened to kill him if he made an outcry. Dr. Carpenter told the police. Drawing a cord from his pocket, one of the men bound the doctor's hands and then gagged him with a handkerchief. They then knocked him to the floor and robbed him of diamonds, watch and coin.

Congressional Committee Is Pleased With Prospects of Development

DECLARE HARBOR UNEQUALLED

Congressmen Marvel At The Improvements Made In Few Years

The congressional committee on rivers and harbors, which has been on the Pacific Coast for some time making an inspection of water shipping facilities and the opportunities offered for further development, yesterday visited Richmond harbor and seemed highly impressed with the improvements which have already been made as well as those which are contemplated in the near future.
The committee included Congressman S. Wallace Dempsey, chairman, Nathan L. Strong of Pennsylvania, John McDuffy of Alabama, Walter Lineberger and Clarence Lea of California. Congressman Charles F. Curry was in a large measure responsible for the inspection made of the Richmond harbor. Major John W. N. Schulz, U. S. District engineer of rivers and harbors, City Manager James A. McVittie and Harbor Master Jackson H. Misner of Richmond, also accompanied the party on the tour of inspection.
After a tour of the San Francisco waterfront and an inspection of the Golden Gate, a tour was made around the Richmond waterfront.
All of the members of the committee were impressed with the development both finished and contemplated for the Richmond harbor and declared it to be a "piece of fine work." They expressed their desire to visit the harbor again in the near future to take note of the improvements which are being made.
The party went quite a distance up the Richmond channel and were informed of the contemplated construction of the inner harbor wharf as well as the location of the prospective site of the Proctor and Gamble company. The channel has not yet been marked with lights and day signs, but these have already been ordered and will be installed within a short time. It was because of a lack of adequate markings that the party which was being carried by a pilot unfamiliar with the channel was unable to go further in.
Much interest was expressed in the developments which have been made by the San Francisco Bridge company at their location on the inner harbor, as well as the development work of the city terminal.
Because of the strategic geographical situation of the Richmond harbor a great deal of development is expected here within a short time by those who have been making a study of water transportation. A terminal located at Richmond, could be used as the center point of shipment for the large back country.
MERCHANTS ASS'N. TO HAVE MEETING

A discussion is to be held at that time in regard to the participation of the association at the ground breaking exercises for the Richmond Community Hotel which is to be held Wednesday morning. WHY OVERTAX OURSELVES?

The normal national debt of the United States before the World war was less than one billion dollars. By 1919 it had risen to $25,484,000,000. In the intervening six years more than five billions have been paid off. The present debt is something less than $21,000,000,000.

Most of the outstanding debt is represented by Liberty bonds. The last of them maturing in 1952. As they fall due they have been paid off, some before maturity. Under the present treasury program, all of the national debt now outstanding will be paid in twenty-five years.

Payment of interest and sinking fund is made out of taxes together with what is received from those nations that are indebted to the United States for money they borrowed during the war period. The total of these debts is now about twelve billions, or more than half of the present debt of the United States.

Some of the debtor nations have arranged settlements with the United States, negotiations are pending with others. The terms accepted and probably to be accepted cover sixty-two-year period as the minimum in which the United States will get all of its twelve billions. The settlements start with small payments, increasing as time goes on. The annual payments to be made during the next twenty-five years are small compared with the annual payments to be made in later years.

Thus, in following its twenty-five-year program, the United States will wipe the slate clean of not only the money borrowed for its own war expenses but also of the money borrowed to lend to Europe. And the money will still keep coming in from Europe.

While this financial ability is flattering to American pride, no situation should be created which will provide the people of twenty-five years hence with a national income they have done nothing to earn.

This policy, if permitted, will produce a condition without precedent, and without warrant. All wars have produced debts that were left for succeeding generations to pay off. Remnants of the Civil war debts still are hidden in the bonds representing the billion we owned in 1917 and still outstanding.

The time of payment must be spread over a longer period. If we pay the actual war cost we shall have done more than preceding generations have done. It is far-fetched to argue that we should pay off the bonds offset by war loans as they become due so that when foreign war loans are received they will become a windfall for posterity.

We shall be wiser and kinder to this generation if we reduce our present taxes and let the future bear a just share of war burdens.

Bright Reds, Greens and Violets
Give a Cheering Note on Rainy Days.

THE old idea seemed to be that dull dark days called for dull dark clothes. Raincoats—or mackintoshes as they persist in calling them across the Atlantic—were made in all the drabber shades of gray, likewise black and a dull sort of navy blue. These drab clothes no doubt contributed to the general gloom and one became more and more depressed as the dull day advanced. Before another generation has passed it may be that we shall wear our brightest clothes under dull skies—suitable waterproof clothes to be sure, but gaily colored none the less. To imagine that all light bright fabrics should be kept away from contact with rain is to ignore the rose and violet, which are never more lovely than when viewed in a rain-soaked garden.

Even now there are many women who have cheerfully colored rainy-day clothes. Shades of violet seem to have strong appeal and at the smart French resorts the most fashionable raincoats were those of the new petunilla shade or of a warm, luminous ivory. That American women are working toward the goal of more cheerful rainy-day clothes may be seen from the fact that a certain manufacturer of rubber raincoats reports that at present the three most popular shades with them are green, blue and red. Among oilskins, yellow comes first with this concern, and red next. And a most important innovation is rubber raincoats with striking printed floral designs, not a whit less vivid than those seen on the chintz and cretonne coats that every other girl was wearing here last summer.

American girls seem to give preference to raincoats that are frankly rubber, and do not pretend to be anything else. The French preference seems to be for rubberized materials that make it possible to wear waterproof clothes without appearing to do so. Rubberized crepe de chine was the favorite during warmer days and now there are rubberized woolen materials from which little suits and ensembles are made.

Suede and smooth-faced leathers are quite appropriate for damp, rainy days and are, of course, very good looking. The sketch shows a rainy-day costume of a warm brown shade of suede which is lined with beige kasha and worn over a kasha frock. Giving the requisite note of color are a bright green felt hat and a green umbrella with owl's head wooden handle.

This brown suede coat, suitable for rainy days, is lined with beige kasha and worn over a kasha frock, and a green felt hat. A green umbrella, with wooden handle simulating an owl's head, is carried.

Sardine Salad: Cut two stalks of

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted
By DOROTHY A.F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a picturized version of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Jerome Wallace has an unexpected call from Eileen Manning, wife of the district attorney. Wallace is now a candidate for that office against Manning. He has told Eileen that if elected he can aid her son, Bob, who is in jail charged with manslaughter. Eileen wants to know how she can help to accomplish her husband's defeat. Wallace suggests that for a candidate's wife to appear to figure in a scandal is always effective, and she agrees.

"What could I do, what would I have to do?" she demanded, her nerves on edge.
Calmly removing his cigarette from his lips, he considered it meditatively. He might have been giving thought to a matter upon which he was loath to extend advice.

"For instance, let us suppose you were caught in a compromising position with someone," he suggested tentatively.

"No, no," she cried with repugnance.

"Oh, nothing dreadful," he protested hastily, "just in enough of a situation to build a rumor upon, something that the newspaper could make a story out of and print. Well—Manning would be done for."

"With you?" she demanded sharply.

Wallace shook his head and laughed.

"A lot of good that would do. No, not with me. You forget that I am the opposition candidate."

The lesson to be gained from the surprising succession of events in connection with this second visit of Joseph's brothers to Egypt, and which terminated in his revelation, may be summed up in the words of the memory verse: "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass." Ps. 27:5. If your child is not yet receiving the benefits of a religious education, a welcome place awaits it in the Sunday school.

The early service will begin at 10 a. m.

In the hour of public worship, beginning at 11 o'clock, the topic of the sermon will be: "The Dying Joseph—A Model of Faith." Heb. 11:22. Nothing is more difficult for us than to walk by faith and not by sight. Influenced by the weakness of our flesh we say with doubting Thomas: "Except I shall see, I will not believe." GREATEST ATTRACTION OF YEAR BOOKED AT CALIFORNIA

JOHN BARRYMORE and IRENE RICH
in the WARNER CLASSIC "BEAU BRUMMEL"

One of the greatest announcements yet made to film patrons of this city is the engagements of "Beau Brummel" at the California Theatre next Monday for an engagement of two days. What gives curiosity and expectation a spur is the fact that John Barrymore, America's greatest dramatic actor, has the starring part, and that the screen version is from the Clyde Fitch play, immortalized by Richard Mansfield. Barrymore is always Barrymore, which means that he can be depended on to give his audiences unfailing dramatic entertainment. But Barrymore in the adaptation of a play that is one of the best in this country means something spectacular and unique.

As "Beau Brummel," the prince of dandies and intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, Barrymore has a role exactly suited to his personality. Impersonating the most vivid personality that ever strode through the social history of England, he gives an unforgettable performance.

The three angles underlying the theme of "Beau Brummel" are the fickleness of fortune, the test of friendship, and the instability of popularity. Because of his intimacy with the Prince of Wales, Beau Brummel is able to influence his creditors and make himself the arbiter of English society. Women flock to his rooms in the vain effort to pick up the fragments of a heart hiding its ache behind the fripperies of clothes. At the height of his popularity, his solvent wit makes an undiplomatic remark which precipitates him into a deluge of misfortune.

The brilliant supporting cast consists of Mary Astor, Willard Louis, Irene Rich, Alec B. Francis, Carmel Myers and others. The direction is by Harry Beaumont, the adaptation by Dorothy Farnum. It is a Warner Brothers' Classic of the Screen.

"HER NIGHT OF ROMANCE" AT THE RICHMOND

English wit, or lack of it, always comes into high relief when matched against American humor, and this contrast is the basis of the mirth-making machinery in Constance Talmadge's latest comedy, "Her Night of Romance," which will be shown at the Richmond Theatre today.

The situation is that of an impetuous young British lord being hounded into a proposal of matrimony to an American heiress he has never met by a London money-lender.

Constance, as the heiress, touring England in search of a curative for her shredded nerves, has anticipated fortune hunters and so disguised herself to look like an outlandish backwoods schoolma'am.

Constance's dual role gives her a wide field for run-making, and she makes the best of it. Alternately the flippant flapper and the bleak schoolma'am, her acting is at all times refreshing.

Roland Colman, a young English actor, plays the part of the lord and brings out the high lights of the role with an intimacy an American actor could hardly achieve. Jean Hersholt, as the money-lender, Albert Gran, Sidney Bracy, Joseph Dowling and Templar Saxe also are in the cast.

Other features on the same program include "Hooked," a Lloyd Hamilton comedy; "Kinograms," world news events.

VERSATILE BILL OF VAUDEVILLE AT CALIFORNIA

Willis West and Beulah Peyton at the head of a great all-star bill of five acts of headliner vaudeville comes to the California Theatre today, in conjunction with the screen feature "New Brooms" with Bessie Love, Neil Hamilton and Phyllis Haver as the featured players.

Willis West, late star of the Willis West Revue, and Beulah Peyton, the chic musical comedy star, will present their latest satire on married life entitled "A Bundle of Fun." Willis West needs no introduction to Richmond theatre fans, while Beulah Peyton, known as the girl with a big voice, snappy dances and chic gowns, will prove the real treat of the season.

The great Forbes Family, consisting of two girls and three boys, comes heralded as the juvenile dancing sensation of the present season. These clever boys and girls display some wonderful dancing executed by youngsters who have been trained since birth. They are following the footsteps of their parents who were two of the world's greatest dancers in their day.

Pheasay and Powell have an offering entitled "Vaudeville Eccentricities," a unique act composed of high class comedy, singing and eccentric dancing.

Del Ruth, Scotland's famous clown, better known as the Harry Lauder of Clownland offers a series of funny comic capers; finishing his act with that sensational balancing trick of toppling tables and chairs.

Ramsay's Canaries present a novelty direct from birdland.

Whose fault is it when a breach comes between a father and a son?

In "New Brooms," the comedy which Clara Beranger adapted to the screen for William de Mille's latest Paramount production, this question is solved.

The featured players are Bessie Love, Neil Hamilton, and Phyllis Haver.

OPEN CARS ARE POPULAR SAYS C. C. KRATZER

The "passing" of the touring car and roadster because of the increasing popularity of closed automobiles is a sign of the imagination. In the opinion of C. C. Kratzer, local Buick dealer, there will always be a market for the open car.

"Analysis of conditions," he says, "show that open cars will continue to be made and sold for many years."

"There will always be a certain group of automobile users which will prefer the open car. In addition, the number of families that own two or more cars is constantly increasing, and in many cases one or more of the models owned is a touring car or roadster. Then, too, there are sections of our country

CHURCH PLANS SOCIAL HALL

A movement is under way for raising funds for a new social hall at the Community Methodist church. The movement for this much needed improvement was launched by Virgil H. Streeter, lay leader. It is planned to dispose of the old hall at Twentieth and Roosevelt and build an addition on the present church. A stage, kitchen and compartments for Sunday school classes are included in the plans.

where climatic conditions make the open car the popular model. And lastly, the very popularity of the closed car will create a demand for open cars, for there is a class of persons who will always buy something different from that which is enjoying the fancy of the majority.

"Automobile companies that have successfully merchandised open cars in the past will find a continued demand. The Buick Motor company recognizes this condition and has included six open models in the sixteen body types which make up the Standard and Master Six Buick lines which have just been introduced."

By DAMON RUNYON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—This story of baseball battle deals with something of a paradox, and with Joe Harris, a stodgy looking, moon faced waif of the big leagues, who won the third game of the World's Series for the Washington Senators, first by his presence and then by his absence.

The score was 4 to 3, giving the Washington club a one game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the series after a struggle that had 45,000 spectators, among them President Coolidge, and Mrs. Coolidge, pretty well heated up with excitement by its ninth inning finish.

But first let me explain the paradox: Joe Harris drove in the winning run for the Senators in the seventh inning with a single. The score was at that moment a tie.

Now Joe Harris is a great hitter, but Joe Harris' stout legs, all knotted with muscles, carry no speed, so Bucky Harris, the Washington manager, dropped Joe Harris from his line-up as the Pirates opened their batting side of the eighth and shifted San Rice over to right field in Harris' place.

It was a defensive move because Bucky Harris figured that single fielding mishap that late in the game might destroy that one run lead, and Joe Harris was the one man in the Washington line-up that was most apt to sustain a mishap of that nature.

A few minutes later, San Rice, called "Man o'War," because of his speed, made an astounding one hand catch of a ball driven by "Oil" Smith, that talky Arkansas man who catches for the Pirates, that would have been a home run, and then destroyed the Washington lead. Rice reached into the bleacher in center field and grabbed the ball right out of the lap of a man sitting in the front row. This is not as exaggerated as it may sound. The man put forth a fending arm as Rice's hand reached over the short, green fence that surrounds the bleacher.

Alex Ferguson, Jersey City, pitched for the Senators up to the seventh today when he was taken out for a pinch hitter. Fred Marberry succeeded him and in the ninth, Marberry was in the very delicate position of the game depending on two pitched balls to "Pie" Traynor.

The Pirates had the bases loaded. Two were out and Marberry pitched three consecutive balls to Traynor. Another pitch an inch wide of the plate and Traynor would have walked, forcing in the tying run. Bucky Harris walked up to Marberry and talked long and earnestly to the big champ. Then Marberry got over a pitch that Barry McCormick called a strike.

The situation was still precarious for Marberry, but he tightened his cap, hitched up his trousers, and let fly another pitch that cut the plate. McCormick called another strike.

With the count three balls and two strikes, Marberry slammed the next one in with all his speed, and he has plenty of that. Traynor ended the game with a fly to McNeely, in center field.

Ray Kremer, from the Pacific Coast, pitched a good game against the Senators. It was so cold that pitching was very difficult, but worked steadily from start to finish. It

Charity Game
Is Planned By
Richmond Elks

Ball teams representing the Richmond Elks and the Oakland Elks will meet at First street on October 25, to battle in a Christmas charity game. The proceeds will go the charity funds of the two lodges.

The Richmond Elks will have some of the best talent of the Standard Oil league to draw from when it stacks up against the Oakland Antlers, which team has already won the championship of the northern division of the state.

The negotiations were put through by John Garvin and R. H. Conrad, managers of the Richmond and Oakland clubs, respectively.

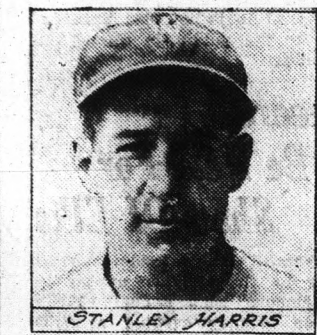

The Richmond lodge is working to raise a banner charity fund to provide Christmas cheer to needy homes. The ball game is expected to bring in a substantial sum. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

RICHMOND WINS
LOPSIDED GAME
AT SACRAMENTO

With a team that had been thrown together on less than 12 hours notice, Coach Ivan Hill, of the Richmond Union high school, journeyed to Sacramento yesterday and defeated the nemesis of 1924, by a lopsided score of 33 to 0.

Sacramento played a wonderful fumbling game. In the first period Mervin Grey, flashing end on the local eleven recovered a pair of fumbles and on both occasions raced safely for the touchdown. Three back field men got the other three. Captain Milicevich, Holland and Baldwin got one apiece, while Walter Siegal converted one and Milicevich two.

Although Richmond was excellent on the passing and kicking, they were unstoppable when it came to plunging through the line. They outplayed Sacramento in all three of these divisions. With Concannon, Hutchinson, Baldwin, Caldwell and Milicevich forming the backbone of the line, the Richmond backfield was able to plow through even a heavier line to a great degree of success.

Borgstrom was Grey's playmate at end. Both men were near perfect on the defensive and offensive and both got down on punts fast enough to please even Ivan Hill. Dyer, already a star in his own right, played his usual good game yesterday, while Dalton and Siegal alternating at quarter kept the capital city boys in hot water all the time. Mariola at full maintained his reputation as a line plunger and Holland showed that he was not to be equalled in open field running.

Yesterday morning the men of the school were beginning to lose interest in the remainder of this season for they had prospects of no more games until November 7. Then a telephone call came bearing the tidings that Sacramento wanted to battle.

Hill called his cohorts into confidence, grabbed a few automobiles and yesterday morning made the trip. Even on that short notice the Richmond high school team put up the best game, worked together better, and played harder than ever before this season.

The lineup was: Grey and Borgstrom, ends; Milicevich and Hutchinson, tackles; Concannon and Coldwell guards; Baldwin, center; Dalton and Siegal, quarter; Holland and Dyer, halves; Mariola, full.

Fighting bravely under a handicap of ten pounds to the man in weight, and against a team supposed to be a 130-pound aggregation, but in reality a string of first substitutes, George Miner's Roosevelt Junior high school football team went down in defeat before the Vallejo team yesterday. The final score was 27 to 0.

The local team was outplayed and outdriven from the first whistle to the last, although they gained consistently around the end and on passes.

Miner took the following men to the navy city: Baldwin, center; Dunleavy and Rountree, guards; Jagard, Arnold and Tidd, tackles; Dolan, Lee, Veague and McAllister, ends; Bumgarner and Williams (captain), quarters; Sarsella and Almonti, halves and Mariola, full.

Preparations For New High School Are Started Here

A complete study of the most modern and best high schools possible so that the best features can be incorporated in the plans for the new half million dollar high school in Richmond, will be made by school officials, now that the new building is assured.

A careful study of this subject will be made by B. X. Tucker, high school principal and W. T. Helms, superintendent of schools. When the state convention of city and county superintendents convenes in Pasadena Monday, Helms and Lewis S. Stone, Oakland architect, who is preparing the plans for the school, will be in attendance and they will visit the best schools in the southern part of the state.

Work on the new school will probably not start until next spring in order to get the building under cover

"Springtime," "Today," "I Love You," "Call of the Heart," "Springtime Love," by MacMurphy will be sung. She will also render "Lead Kindly Light." At the dinner hour between 8 and 9 on Tuesday night, Mrs. Calfee will sing "Serenade" by MacMurphy. Mrs. Alice Guthrie Poyner of San Francisco will furnish violin obligato and Mrs. Vera Wyatt Frazier will be accompanist.

By the winter of 1926, The election returns will be canvassed at a meeting of the school board in Superintendent Helms' office on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

HUDSON ESSEX MODELS PROVE POPULAR HERE

The number of new Hudson and Essex cars on the street is proof of their popularity says J. P. Strom, Hudson and Essex dealer. Even without the stimulation of new models, Hudson Essex business is maintaining a record pace of activity.

The remarkable record of cars sold in this city, it is declared, is simply in line with business done all over the United States—a business which has placed Hudson Essex as the largest makers of six cylinder cars in the world.

"Nearly a year ago, our motorists began to recognize the outstanding values in Hudson and Essex," said Strom. "Now this knowledge has become far more widespread with the result that Hudson Essex is doing a volume of business nationally, which is thousands of cars a month larger than that of any other maker of six cylinder cars. As Hudson Essex volume has increased the public has been given the benefit of constantly lowered prices, so that now our cars sell for the lowest points in their history and at less than half their 'peak' price. It is no sure thing that prices can be maintained at so favorable a level."

"Such a program does not make for a radical series of ups and downs in business, but rather results in a consistent and steady growing volume. It depends on the public coming gradually to realize what Hudson and Essex offer and advertise 'value for the money'."

"Sometimes we are asked, 'What is the reason behind Hudson and Essex economies and lowered prices?' What are the distinguishing features of Hudson Essex manufacturing economy? How can prices be cut and quality improved?"

"First, as we said, Hudson Essex is the largest six manufacturer in number of cars made. Secondly, it is a specialist in enclosed cars, 90 per cent of its entire production being in the popular Hudson and Essex coaches. Thirdly, overhead expense is light and it is divided over the combined totals of Hudson and Essex. Fourthly, Hudson Essex originated the coach, has made over 200,000 of them and naturally knows how to build them well and economically. Hudson and Essex sales leadership all over the United States is proof that motor car buyers know and appreciate these facts."

Popularity Of Wonder Mine Shown By Rapid Stock Sale

Scott McPherson, who has held the position of fiscal agent for the Wonder Mining company since its incorporation, announced yesterday that during the past two weeks he has sold several thousand shares in this city, due to the favorable reports that a new power plant and other machinery has been recently shipped to the mine and is now being installed.

—SPECIFICATIONS—

ENGINE—L head, 3-in. bore and 4-in. stroke. Combined fan and water pump. The fan and water pump are one unit driven by a belt from the generator. The water pump impeller operates in the cylinder casing. In case of freezing the belt slips. The heat of the cylinder wall, which is adjacent to the water pump impeller, thaws the water and allows the impeller to turn.

PISTONS—Cast iron. 3 rings—2 main and 1 oil regulating.

VALVES—Cast iron heads and steel stems. Water completely around each valve seat. Valve stems lubricated by oil thrown from crankshaft.

CONNECTING RODS—8½-in. long which is unusually long for this size of engine. This reduces piston thrust on cylinder walls and makes a smoother engine.

CAM SHAFT—Six bearings.

BEARINGS—Bronze back; babbitt-lined main bearings; connecting rod bearings babbitt die-cast in rods.

CRANKSHAFT—7 bearings. 1 3-4-in. main bearing and 1 5-8-in. connecting rod bearings. The use of the 7-bearing crankshaft makes the engine considerably shorter, allowing for greater body room.

LUBRICATION—Force feed to all main bearings and connecting rod bearings and camshaft bearings.

RADIATOR—Fin and tube type. Nickel-plated shell.

IGNITION—Automatic spark advance.

STARTING AND LIGHTING—Two unit system.

CLUTCH—Single plate. The clutch release bearing is a solid block of graphite which never needs lubrication.
